TIM'S HOUSE PROJECT

SITUATION OVERVIEW

This newly constructed home replaced an existing house located close to a lake in the heart of Minneapolis. Homeowner and builder Tim Brandvold wanted to capture great views of the lake throughout the house by using traditional double hung windows that included a warm wood interior and Ebony exterior to complement the home's design and fit in with the character of the neighborhood. Brandvold considered windows from other manufacturers but the final decision came down to price and the style and finish of the windows.

INTEGRITY SOLUTION

For Brandvold, Integrity Wood-Ultrex® Double Hung Windows – along with Marvin® windows and doors – proved to be an ideal choice. The Integrity Double Hung Windows enhanced the unique “open” design of Brandvold's home and offered terrific views of the nearby lake. Brandvold also liked the fact that the Wood-Ultrex windows included a natural, bare wood interior that can be painted or stained to tie in with his home's décor. And the dark exterior finish added just the right look he wanted for his residence.

Integrity Wood-Ultrex windows and doors are built tougher, last longer and protect better.

- Integrity Double Hung Windows offer clean, even and measured sight lines that provide significant depth where historically only a flat vinyl facade has been present.
- Integrity's Ultrex pultruded fiberglass is the first and only finish to be verified to AAMA's (American Architectural Manufacturers Association) 624-10 finish specifications. Ultrex is proven to resist fading, chalking, scratching and cracking in all types of climates.
- Tough, dependable, non-corrosive and low-maintenance performance makes Integrity windows and doors the best value for long-term performance and sustainability.
- Integrity was born from The Marvin® Companies' century-long heritage of service, innovation, craftsmanship, quality and value with a focus on all-out performance.
- Integrity has a 10-year manufacturing warranty/20-year glass seal warranty.
